

I chose to create a digital illustration of one of my house plants. I followed the tips given on the article "The Color Wheel and Beyond", choosing initially two main colors—orange and blue-green—and then adding their tints and shades. I also mixed both colors in a few places using a halftone effect. I think the result is very pleasing and helped me understand how colors can complement and enhance one another.