

Wellness Meetup

Co-founders, Sarah Osman and Jenna Sands started Wellness Meet Up NYC as a way to connect the robust health and wellness community.

They realized that this very passionate group thrives on social media but lacks a connection offline. Each month, they curate a unique event theme to bring brands, bloggers, influencers and product consumers together under one roof.

new brands and powerful social media influencers (and consumers) together in one space, in real life.

#WellnessMeetupNYC organizes monthly events to connect passionate individuals to the brands and bloggers they love and they are currently expanding to more cities!

Past events include fitness marathons, cooking classes, health and wellness seminars, and yoga classes.

These events provide opportunities for brands to engage with their demographic in a unique way, outside of social media and brick and mortar stores. Their goal is to bring amazing
