Discussion: Give specific examples of how art history currently effects color usage today?

For me, the first example of how art history currently effects color usage was last years Met Ball, themed "heavenly bodies". From this there are countless examples of how historical art was used to inspire or even recreated for current fashion. See images below for examples from Met Gala 2018

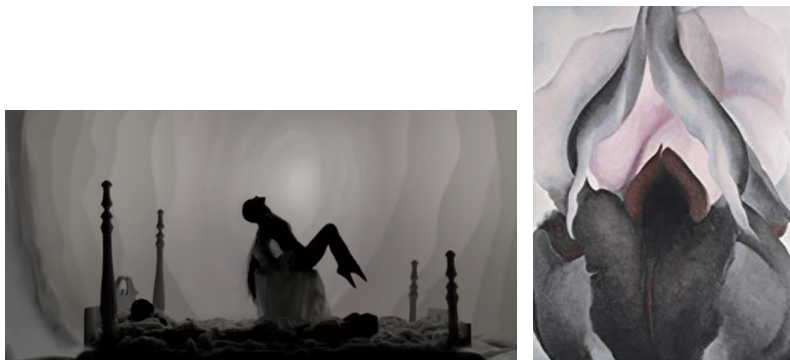

Also see below more fashion inspired by art (Dolce Gabbana spring 2012)

Also see an excellent example in Ariana Grande God is a Woman Music Video:
