

Found Design Research

The Amazing Style of Nicolas Marlet

The Beginning

Nicolas Marlet, aka. Nico Marlet, is a well known character designer and animator. He was born in France and graduated from Gobelins School L'Image in Paris. He had moved to California in the 90's to officially begin his animation career.

He first notable work started as an animator for the Ducktales Movie, Talepin, We're Back! A Dinosaur's Story, Bulls and etc.

Big Breakout

With all of his experience with animation and character designing, his talents would be rewarded well when he was accepted into a character design position for Dreamworks. Since then he was requested to work on movies such as the Prince of Egypt, The Road to El Dorado, Shrek, Madagascar, Over the Hedge and etc.

It would find the King Fu Panda and How To Train Your Dragon franchises that he was awarded 5 awards for best character design. These awards were for his work on King Fu Panda, King Fu Panda: Secrets of the Furious Five short film, How To Train Your Dragon, Over the Hedge and Abominable.

DREAMWORKS ANIMATION SKG

Thank You for Listening

A fun little presentation about an artist I found.