

WINTER

For winter I love a cozy aesthetic. I picture the right outfit being worn on a snowy day in a nice warm cabin and I like the contrast between the fitted skirt and oversized sweater. I tried illustrating what I pictured as a cozy but chic winter outfit, with a fun contrast of colors. I always find the black winter coats to be boring and a little dull, so I would want to wear something colorful to lift my spirits!

Winter mood board

SPRING

Spring is my favorite season and floral prints and pastels are a big reason why! This coat has such a playful pattern and I love that the blue is contrasted by the red socks. The dress has a very elegant shape and a lively pattern. I can picture wearing it to dinner or a party.

Spring mood board

SUMMER

I love the shape of the outfit in the left photo, it's subtle but still very stylish and lets the accessories stand out. The right is yet another example of the Great Wave inspiring things! Definitely something I would love to wear, I really like how the designer constructed this pattern. The waves seem to have so much depth.

Summer mood board

FALL

The contrast of gold and black looks very luxurious and sleek and the pattern of the skirt is subtle but very effective. The color blocking of the coat is very refreshing and I love how it lines up and matches with the jeans/top combination. The contrasting accessories help it stand out as well.

Fall mood board

