

I'm moving apartments soon and so I chose to create my "ideal" living room palette. I usually prefer wooden floors and wooden furniture details (such as the dining table top, and chair legs). I'd go for dark cool tones in general (for the sofa, curtains, vases), ranging from blue to a subtle purple. I'd love to have light gray walls which would go well with the dark cool tones. Off-white (lightly warm) would be a nice complement for the darker tones and could be present in the dining chairs, shelves, rugs. Finally, a light, muted pink would be my choice of accent color, along with the green from my house plants.
